A safe, effective food storage and packaging solution

High quality food storage and packaging solutions are essential to ensuring the food you are working with is safe to eat, free of contamination and meets national (and international) food storage and packaging regulations.

High volume production kitchens, food manufacturers, smaller commercial kitchens and the home cook can enjoy these two new fabulous products at very competitive prices.

Together with our channel bags, you can keep food fresh 3-5 times longer, prevent freezer burn and be able to profit from buying food in bulk and storing it for a longer time. Our sealers are also an ideal help for your sous vide cooking!
